DISTINGUISHED STUDENT LEADERS PROGRAM

National Student Council's Distinguished Student Leaders program is a rigorous national skill- and knowledge-based recognition program that challenges students to dive deeper into the characteristics of leadership and to examine their own leadership styles and knowledge.

NatStuCo Distinguished Student Leaders demonstrate their leadership abilities by creating a personal leadership portfolio that shows they've met the award criteria in areas such as leadership, goal setting, decision making, time management, civic engagement, and more. This portfolio serves as a valuable record of their achievements and commitment as a leader—something they may refer to often when they're applying for college and scholarships. The program encourages your students to grow into exemplary role models and gives them the hard-earned recognition that they deserve.

The time it takes to complete these activities varies by individual—some students may be able to go from start to finish in a couple of months. For others, the process may take one or two semesters to complete. No matter the timeframe, all applicants must participate in an assessment meeting with their advisers and principals to verify their completion of the requirements. The last step is forwarding the student portfolios to the national office for review. It can take up to four weeks for the national office to render a decision, and portfolios must be reviewed prior to the student's graduation.

Do you have council members who deserve to be acknowledged for their leadership? Encourage them to apply! Visit www.NatStuCo.org/distinguished to learn more.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF EXCELLENCE AWARDS

The National Council of Excellence (NCOE) recognition is a prestigious national award program for middle level and high school student councils that maintain strong year-round programs and work to improve their schools and communities through their leadership activities. To earn NCOE recognition, student councils must present evidence of meeting the required indicators. Building this portfolio helps your council identify its strengths and areas of growth, as well as providing the opportunity for national recognition.

Councils that go above and beyond the basic indicators can earn recognition as a National Gold Council of Excellence.

Learn more and challenge your council to strive for National Council of Excellence recognition at www.NatStuCo.org/ncoe.

LEADERSHIP LESSONS

Williams Field High School, Gilbert, AZ

The leadership committee at Williams Field High School provides a weekly activity for the student council that focuses on a different aspect of leadership. For one activity, council members watched a video of people talking about how they feel about themselves; most of those comments were negative. The people in the video then looked at their baby pictures and were asked to talk about themselves in the same way. It was a difficult exercise that brought to light how impactful negative self-image can be. To wrap up the activity, each student wrote down something they were good at, and the paper was posted where they could see it every day.

TIME TO SHINE

Your installation ceremony should reflect the personality of your school's culture and climate. From a structured presentation, to a meeting, to a personal reflection period, how you do it is up to you. The purpose is to celebrate this important rite of passage from one leadership team to the next.

Small and intimate or big and splashy, your goal should be to make it memorable, particularly for your officers. Consider recognizing these members and their contributions with officer guards, which are available in a variety of designs to give the honor a truly personal touch.

WHEN PLANNING YOUR INSTALLATION PROGRAM, REMEMBER TO CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING—AND THINK ABOUT WAYS TO MAKE THEM YOUR OWN

- Theme
- Speakers
- Refreshments
- Entertainment
- Background music
- Slide or video presentations
- Candle-passing ceremony from old to new officers
- Pin exchange from old to new officers (or from principal to new officers)
- Suggested attire
